

ENVIRONMENTAL CONSULTING SERVICES

An era of environmental consciousness has arrived in step with the new millennium. Everywhere there are signs ...Environmentally friendly technologies have found greatest favour among publicly traded companies. ISO 14000 has set new environmental standards for business. Investors now look for "green" funds. Contemporary legislative commitments have been promulgated ... the CEA Act, the EBR ... A growing sense of interconnectedness between the activities of communities, corporations, and countries has brought about better recognition of environmental sustainability and green energy.

Implications of this are far reaching. Demonstrating duly diligent regard for the environment is a necessity for sound business practices. Initiatives that reduce, reuse, or recycle resources are only a small but important part of this. Are you managing, selling, buying, mortgaging a property or business?
